The highly anticipated new release Declaration N° 6 is the sixth album by Sardinian band Train To Roots, due for release on 20th October 2017. In recent years this band has firmly established itself on the international reggae scene with productions and live performances which have impressed the audiences and industry heads alike.

Anticipated by the single Move It, an original 80's dancehall style tune that in the first two months has had more than 100.000 of YouTube and social media views, Declaration N° 6 is a very focused root rock reggae album which deals with themes from the growing racism of European states as a reaction to the phenomenon of mass migration to issues of spiritual growth and awareness of our role in countering this to build a much more pleasant and ethical society.

Legendary frontman Bunna (of Italian reggae band 'Africa Unite' fame) lends his gravitas to one of the eleven previously unreleased tracks and Eugenio Finardi, singer-songwriter from Milan (who was revolutionary in the experimental and progressive 70s rock scene) translates verses from Procurare e moderare, a well-known traditional Sardinian protest song, into Italian on another track.

Declaration N° 6 comes out in Italy on INRI and will be distributed globally by VPAL, part of the world's foremost reggae label, VPRrecords.
